

Gospel Reflection – Oct. 22-23, 2016
30th Sunday in Ordinary Time - Luke 18:9-14

I know this may be hard for some of you to believe, but as a child I was not perfectly well behaved. There were times when I did things which I knew were wrong. Some of these became known to my parents and others not. While I always felt remorse for the wrong I had done, there was one time when I felt absolute shame. That shame still painfully resides in my heart.

The act involved a scheme to sell something entirely useless—rocks found in my backyard—to a younger neighbor. I'd convinced him that they were part of a valuable collection. They weren't. He gave up his allowance to have them.

His parents told my parents what had transpired. At first, I thought the sale to have been quite entrepreneurial, but when my father confronted me and told me how disappointed he was that I had "cheated" my young neighbor, I felt filled with shame. I could not raise my eyes from the ground nor look my father in the eyes.

The tax collector in today's Gospel found himself similarly shamed. He too could only keep his eyes cast down when standing in the Temple. He had cheated many of his neighbors.

What benefit was that painful shame? In the tax collector's case, he went home justified, that is, made right in the sight of God. We don't know if he made restitution, the story doesn't tell us that (I did, by the way). He was justified not because of his shame but because of God's mercy. His sin was the circumstance, his shame the aftermath, and forgiveness the outcome.

Are there any unconfessed sins that still weigh heavy on our hearts? If there are, I think we all know where and how in God's sight we can be restored, forgiven, and made whole.

As today's responsorial psalm says:

*The LORD is close to the brokenhearted;
 and those who are crushed in spirit He saves.
 The LORD redeems the lives of His servants;
 no one incurs guilt who takes refuge in Him.*

(PS 34:19,23)

~Fr. Victor Scocco, O.S.S.T.

MILITARY ARCHDIOCESE COLLECTION NEXT WEEK

Next week, our parish will take up the Collection for the Archdiocese for the Military Services, USA (AMS). The AMS relies solely on private donors in support of its mission, "Serving those who serve" and its ministry to provide the same pastoral care and services to Catholics serving in the United States Armed Forces, enrolled in US Military Academies, undergoing treatment at any of the 153 Department of Veterans Affairs' Medical Centers, working in civilian jobs for the federal government beyond US borders, and the families of these populations, as does any other Catholic diocese. While the salaries and retirement of Catholic military chaplains are paid for by the US Government, the AMS receives no funding from government or military for its programs and services, including the Co-Sponsored Seminarian Program, which provides priests for home dioceses and for the military chaplaincy. To learn more about the AMS, go to: www.milarch.org/nationalcollection.

YEAR OF MERCY – MOMENTS ON MERCY

This Jubilee of Mercy is not the first time that Pope Francis has emphasized the need for the faithful to live their lives in a witness to the mercy of God. In Evangelii Gaudium, or The Joy of the Gospel, Pope Francis highlights the connection between mercy and continually spreading the Good News of Jesus Christ in our everyday lives. In paragraph 24 of Evangelii Gaudium, the Church is called to be "missionary disciples" as an "evangelizing community" seeking "to show mercy, the fruit of its own experience of the power of the Father's infinite mercy" (EG, no. 24). Our faith is not our own; it is ours as members of the Body of Christ, who continually testify to the truth of the Gospel through all of our actions. Just as mercy is an overarching theme for Pope Francis's pontificate and his life, we are all called to make mercy the theme of our life.

1. Read Evangelii Gaudium. Take note of the various places that the mercy we show others is described as a reflection of God's merciful love and compassion.
2. Share your faith with someone else. This is somewhat intimidating, but it can be done in a variety of ways since all of our words, actions, and lives should reflect the joy of God's great gift of mercy and love. Even something as simple as stating that you are a Christian can help someone recognize the connection between your actions of compassion and your faith in Jesus Christ.

We have recently formed a men's group that will study the Bible, Catholic Catechism, and various other sources, so we can better understand, not just the doctrines themselves, but the biblical and historical reasons for these beliefs.

We meet in the Sacristy after the Divine Mercy Chaplet, at 6:30pm every Tuesday, other than the third Tuesday of the month. If interested, contact Ray Ogden after the Divine Mercy Chaplet at the church or (almost) anytime at home at 410-551-8364.
